A GAZE HE'LL GO GAGA FOR

File this under weird male fetishes: They find women with very dark limbal rings (sounds kinky, but it's just the outer edge of the iris) superhot. To fake darker ones, line inner rims with white (like D&G's, at left) or nude pencil (try L'Oréal Paris Double Extend Eye Illuminator, $9). The whites of your eyes will look lighter, which sets off the iris's edge, subconsciously turning him on.

Make His Muscles Melt

If your man has sore, tight shoulders, try this temperature trick: Soak a towel in hot water, wring it out, and place it on his upper back for five minutes while massaging him over the cloth. Repeat the process with a towel soaked in cold water. "Heat loosens up muscles, then the cold numbs pain receptors, keeping them feeling good," says Kathleen McEvoy, a massage therapist at Exhale Spa in NYC.

It Freaks Him Out When You...

Men love the megahot results of our primping—but not always seeing it in action. In a Cosmo web poll, we asked dudes to pick the beauty behaviors that turn them off most.
